

Hertz Leads Fine "Tristan" At Metropolitan

By Sylvester Rawling.
"TRISTAN UND ISOLDE," repeated at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, might well have been a first performance of the season so many and important were the changes in the personnel of those engaged in the presentation of it. An indifferent hangnail, despondent and malcontent, became an abcess on one of Mr. Toscanini's fingers and prevented him from conducting. At the eleventh hour Mr. Hertz was called upon to take his place. Then Johanna Gadski as Isolde, Louise Homer as Brangäne, Pasquale Amato as Kurwenal and Herbert Witherspoon as King Marke, familiar in other seasons, gave the production a new face. To the honor of each and all of them there was no loss of artistic results. Seldom has Wagner's great love-tragedy, by many thought to be the greatest music-drama ever written, been presented with such poignancy and effectiveness.

To Mr. Hertz, hats off: Six years have elapsed since he waved the baton over this opera. First Mr. Mahler and then Mr. Toscanini took it from him. Each enforced his individual readings. It was no easy task, without rehearsal, for Mr. Hertz.

CLEANSE THE LARGE INTESTINE The Present War Cry of Advanced Physicians

Some of the leading surgeons of the world have gone so far recently as to remove part of the large intestine as a cure for serious cases of tuberculosis, and restored the patient to perfect health by so doing.
The New York American of February 1st says:
"During Constipation the poisons in the Large Intestine often become so great as to form a serious menace to health and even to life. Through the walls of the Intestine they enter the blood, and consume the healthy blood cells, impoverishing the blood, and if this process is continued long enough an acute poisoning is produced."
It is impossible under our present-day mode of living for the Intestine to rid itself of all waste, and it is easily proven that there is an accumulation, no matter how regular we are.
Drugs if taken regularly form a habit, but Internal Bathing by means of the "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the Lower Intestine its entire length with pure warm water and makes it clean, sweet and healthy.
At the same time it regulates the system and makes one feel that every function is working smoothly and naturally—and indeed this is true.
Hundreds of thousands are now enthusiastic users of the "J. B. L. Cascade," which is now being shown and explained by all Riker and Hegeman Drug Stores in New York and Brooklyn. Ask for free and interesting booklet, "Why Man of Today is Only 50% Efficient."

to resume his way for he, as much as either of them, has his personal notions of how to conduct this opera. One thing that helped him in the devotion of the musicians and the singers, with whom he is as great a favorite as with the public. Johanna Gadski, in Tristan, the best thing he has done here. He added to his dramatic impressiveness a finer musical declamation, such as, at his first appearance, we pointed out to him that New York's opera-going public has done here. ### FLONZALEY QUARTET GIVES LAST CONCERT OF SEASON.

The Flonzaley Quartet gave the last concert of its season at Aeolian Hall last night before a crowded and a fashionable audience that did not stint its applause. It made Mr. d'Arban, the cellist, the soloist in Bach's suite in C major, for cello alone, which he played admirably. The programme was begun with Dvorak's quartet in C major, opus 61, and was ended with Beethoven's quartet in E minor, opus 59, both works played superbly. A huge floor wreath was handed across the footlights to the quartet at the end, which, no matter by whom presented, fittingly carried with it the feeling of the audience. The Flonzaleys, thanks to Mr. de Coppet, are become one of the best of New York's musical assets.

ADELE ROWLAND AND CHARLES RUGGLES WED

"If one's on the stage one just can't keep one's own little affairs quiet," pouted Mrs. Adele Rowland Ruggles, bride of Charles Ruggles, in their home, No. 155 West Eighty-third street, to-day.
Mr. Ruggles, who stood beside his bride, then proceeded to tell how he married her in Jersey City last Wednesday. They intended keeping their marriage a secret, but friends learned of it. Ruggles is a young dramatist who is appearing in "Help Wanted" at the Maxine Elliott Theatre.
For many years Ruggles and Adele Rowland, who has appeared with Richard Crook and Bernard and other stars, have known each other. On his way to New York from Los Angeles to play in "Help Wanted," he met her and they renewed their old acquaintance. When she came here several weeks ago Ruggles proposed and was accepted. She is now rehearsing for the leading role in "The Red Canary," which will be seen on Broadway in a few weeks.
